“Wow, Tenn...I just found out today and I find myself in a state of shock. My deepest condolences and prayers go to all your family. I know Tenn from Paltalk and he was consistently making people laugh, laugh...and laugh some more..One big memory I have is when he made me laugh when I had just taken a drink of my beer and he said something and I choked Beer out my nose and shorted out my keyboard...I had to go to Best buy for another keyboard...LOL Rest in peace, Tenn. You will be sorely missed.”

“You know what...I heard so much bashing of Tenn throughout my time on Paltalk. Then when I heard that he died today...it leaves an empty feeling inside of you. We're not just avatars that you can bash and destroy and then forget about when you turn your computer off. Rest in peace Tenn.”

“What a waste of a much-accomplished life and a great loss to those that 'Wayne' left behind. Who ever knew he had been in the Navy? Just goes to show how little we really know someone online or how their lives are spent day after day with their loved ones. I only hope that he has found peace wherever he is right now. There will be many people who will miss Wayne and I hope they find the courage to go on without him. Rest in peace. Sarah”

“Man, such sad news. Tenn you were one of the funniest people I knew. It is so sad that you are not here anymore, I wish it was a "Pal Talk Prank"...But It is not. I really was trying not to believe it, because you didn't need to leave this world so soon! May God watch over your son here on earth and you Up there making everyone laugh in another place. You will be so missed."
