Greg is also survived by a host of aunts, uncles, cousins and friends who loved him dearly

Everyone who knew Greg knew his wife and children were his pride and joy. He never let a day pass that he didn't let them know how much he loved them in words and actions

My baby boy, Greg left this world way to soon. It's more than a mother can bear, but with the lord's help I can. From a baby up, he was always gentle, kind and loving. He, Chad and I went on many Sunday fishing trips after church. He enjoyed fishing so much when he had the time. He and his brother played basketball many happy hours and many other things, they loved each other. He was always a responsible person and tried to do his best at everything he endeavored to do. He had many friends and many loving acquaintances through his work. He always said "Mom, you taught me to do my work with excellency as unto the lord" and he did. My most honored of many things you have done, honey, was when you gave your heart to the lord on your wedding day and wanted to be baptized. You told us you didn't want to take a chance and be separated in death from your beautiful love, Kayla. Your family was most precious treasure. You were an excellent son; I will forever love and miss you. I will see you soon my baby boy, Greg.

There will be a Graveside service July 20, 2024 at 11:00 am in the Barton O'quinn Cemetery (Backbone ridge) Clinchco, Virginia with Keith Dotson officiating and Haley Conaway singing. In lieu of flowers donations can be made to Mullins Funeral Home for funeral expenses

“ It's taken me some time to say something, only because coming up with the words to say how great a friend Geeg was and always will be, seems so difficult. I am a better person for having known him. In the short time we have known each other, his impact will last forever. He had a kindness and a heart to help people. He knew I had reached the bottom and reached out a hand to me that will forever be etched into my heart.

We became close as brothers and always had a shoulder to lean on, or an ear to listen for each other.

I admired him not just as my friend but the friend he was to anyone that that was facing something that seemed bigger than them.

I have a lot of gratitude toward Greg as well he always said it went both ways.

He and his family were kind with full hearts to me beyond measure. I tried to make sure to always let him know how much it meant to me. His precious children and wife were always at the top of our conversations. He shared things about them with me that he could do nothing but smile as he spoke.

It's so hard knowing you're not here with me bub, and there is a void in my heart, but thank you for seeing something in me that I didn't see in myself. Your friendship will never be forgotten.
