“ My HERO. More than my cousin. I’m named after his Moma. SO PROUD TO BE RELATED to Jerry-Bird(Moma always called em) He made my tears stop with his voice on the phone. My soul peaceful in his company. Humor, kindness, gentleness, GENTLEMAN; Jerry lived by a code most haven’t a clue of. Honesty, ethics, standards, morals, INTEGRITY, generosity, HONORABLE GOOD MAN. Respectful. ONLY father figure I would ever know. Good to me cause I needed em. Not him need me. Jerry enjoyed the simple things in life. Brought things to my attention I woulda never noticed. I will go to my grave myself loving and never judging cause when I was little? When I stopped at the store with Jerry. I actually got not just a pop. But candy bar too. EMPTY heavy pockets of his change. And he let me keep the change. No one but him was ever that good to me. And to be fair. He was that good to all children. I just happened to be lucky enough to be kin to him. So for me? He not only gave me all the love I coulda imagined. He demonstrated equality. He taught me to preserve. He also let me know it’s okay to be happy and enjoy myself. I know what he would want to do right now if he were here. He’d wanna ride and listen and look at all of Gods creation. I will always love you Jerry. I will always miss you. I will never forget you. I will see you and Michael and Aunt Teola and Granny Jackie, Granny and Granddaddy in Heaven. Til then, Mitzi(Poo)

“ RIP, my friend. May your memories be brought to mind when the breeze stir the leave. May we forever see the beauty of the earth when we look at a beautiful flower. Let us be reminded with the rising sun, the morning dew and the smell of coffee brewing, that you loved the loved the simplest of life and appreciated nature with all it splendor. Fly high, be free forever more.
