Thank you Donna yes it's ashame they are doing me this way. I had just went n bought him a blanket a Halloween skull candy bucket that had lid screw on it. N I took bunch of his clothes up n gave them to him. Plus his insurance got him a relatorn carry on oxygen. N they are trying to keep everything. That's not right I was the one that stood by him when he found out about dementia Teresa said that I was going have it rough bc her father n law died with it. I told her then I would need help n none of them came nhelped me. Yes Johnny would much rather me have his things then them n he would have wanted me on his obituaryas his long life fiance. Yes it hurts. Yes they moved him to heritage hall clintwood bc I don't have a vehicle n no way around n they had him there so I couldn't spend time with him. Thank sweet Jesus I got to spend a little bit of time with him night before he passed away. Them pictures of us was the last picture we had made together. I hate myself for not listening to him one week before he passed away he was n Norton community n he was there 5 days before I knew he was there. I just live lk 1 n half miles from hospital. Teresa all she said is I thoughtyou knew that Johnny said he talked to me n I said he did but he hadn't been moved then. It's ashame that they want to take all the credit for taking care of him. But if I had it to do all over again I would have never called them n told them Johnny was heading bk tobhospital. I sure wouldn't have called them at all if I knew I wa going be treated like dog shirt.
