“Mrs. Willis, I did not know about your Mother's death until I returned to work this morning. She was a wonderful lady and everyone at the assisted living just adored her and your Dad. We admired you and the tireless efforts you put forth for them. We often talked of how difficult it must have been on you to have been there as much as you were. God will bless You.”

“Mammaw Margie was the best grandmother anyone could hope for. I consider myself one of the luckiest grandsons of all time to have spent so much time growing up learning, loving, and laughing with her. My childhood was filled with hundreds of Christmas trips, summer breaks, and Thanksgivings, as well as simple weekends spending time with her and Papaw Frank. I find it hard to express enough gratitude for the advice and life lessons she gave me. She was always there to lift us up when anyone was in need, from taking care of my burned brother to something as simple as help winging a recipe from thousands of miles away. Mammaw was an exceptional person, from all her sewing projects, her kitchen, her violets and gardening, her faith to God as well as her community were all given with love and care. I am most thankful that we had the opportunity to add to the love she gave us and build our lives as an example of her kindness and fairness. I, Christine and my children Damien and Morgan miss her greatly. I am truly glad she was able to enjoy and love future generations of or family and rest in peace knowing that she was an important influence in our lives that will never be forgotten. Love you Mammaw!”

“Sheila, you and Laura did such a wonderful job of planning your Mom's funeral. The service was beautiful and so befitting. Although I did not know her personally, she was obviously a great Mother and her influence and guidance certainly show within the lives of you and your daughter. I know she would be very pleased. May God bless you.”

“My Mamaw was awesome and I have so many warm memories of her and Papaw. When I was burned my grandparents took care of me a lot.. I remember spending so many holiday weekends at their house and randomly going on Saturday to visit for a few hours. I remember spending countless weeks in the summer at their house - crafting, playing, going to the waterslide and pool, running around and learning how to make fried apple pies and biscuits and gravy. My mamaw's kitchen is a special place. I also remember driving everywhere in an Beachwood and maroon 1982 Oldsmobile Cutlass Supreme. My dad bought the car for my first car and I still have it parked safely in my garage. Still having their car only adds to my memories and they come flooding back everytime I drive it. I remember Mamaw going on vacations with us to Florida, Hawaii, the Bahamas and so many more places as a kid and it was a lot of fun - and it was always a welcome break from parents. Mamaw and Papaw would give us anything we wanted. When I went off to college (GO VOLS!) Mamaw made me a HUGE denim laundry bag that even Santa would have been jealous of. This bag did a lot of heavy lifting for more than just laundry through my college years. I am convinced this was part of my success; I still have it too. As I bought my first home I started realizing the most important thing my Mamaw taught me was to live below your means, to save, and the power of endurance - or grit. She always told me "its better to hold out, than to show out". She didn't just teach me these things, she lived it along with Papaw. Mamaw you will be missed, but by no means are you forgotten. Thank you for everything you did and all the memories.”

“Dear Mamaw Margie, Just wanted to say you will be greatly missed by me and my family. You gave us encouragement when we were down, advice when we were troubled, and helping hands when we were in need. Thank you for sharing your life and good times with us and loving and helping make great childhood memories for Mark and John as you did. You were a great Mother-in-law to me. You lived a life to be proud of. I recall you often saying "I did the best I could". Now is the time to rest in peace. Much love, Susan”
