

Travis Shane Wright

December 31, 1986 - February 4, 2014

No obituary found for this tribute.

Tribute Wall

AL

“Praying for all of the family. Trav sure will be missed by so many.”

amy large - July 04, 2014 at 07:44 PM

RJ

“God gained a wonderful new angel when he called you home Travis. I said a payer, and told Michael you would b joining him. Its surreal to know that you are no longer with us, like so many of of our loved ones that have passed. You fought a hard battle, But I know with ALL of my heart that you r no longer n pain, never to b again..and in the most amazing place we could only imagine. I will forever hold dear the wonderful times we had, all the holidays you spent with us and family..your smile, your spunk lol. RIP my friend.. we love you”

Robin Johnson - June 04, 2014 at 05:14 PM

RJ

“God gained a wonderful new angel when he called you home Travis. I said a payer, and told Michael you would b joining him. Its surreal to know that you are no longer with us, like so many of of our loved ones that have passed. You fought a hard battle, But I know with ALL of my heart that you r no longer n pain, never to b again..and in the most amazing place we could only imagine. I will forever hold dear the wonderful times we had, all the holidays you spent with us and family..your smile, your spunk lol. RIP my friend.. we love you”

Robin Johnson - June 04, 2014 at 05:14 PM

WP

“Prayer’s for comfort for all his family and friends . Cora, Caroline Tessa and Terra My thoughts are with you all along with the rest of his family and friends .”

Wallace Pam - June 04, 2014 at 02:34 AM

SM

“I didn’t know Travis all that well, but I did know him a little, and from what I knew about him he was a very kind hearted young man. I also know that he was too young to leave this world, but obviously the good lord had other plans for him. I truly hope that his family can find some type of comfort in knowing that. Our hearts go out to his family, especially his wife and daughter. If there’s anything that we can do, please don’t hesitate to let us know.”

stephanie mullins - June 04, 2014 at 01:17 AM