“To the family I wish to express my deepest sorrow for your loss. Wallace was a wonderful man. He never saw a stranger and was one of the most honorable family men I have ever met. He was the same anytime and anywhere you saw him. I loved talking to him, and you could tell his family was the most precious thing in his life. I was fortunate to know all his children, especially Phyllis. Phyllis and I have been close for years, worked together and traveled together at times. To the family, He is flatfooting with the angels and God is enjoying him as much as we did.”
