“Bob, Amy, and Serita, I'm deeply sorry for your loss. Your family was the best neighbors I had growing up. I will remember Wanda for her infectious smile, brilliant positive attitude toward others. I'm praying for inner peace, and strength for your family during this time. Wanda is in heaven now rejoicing. Blessings to your family.”

“Family, I'm sad for you and know what you are going through as you contemplate how your life will be without Wanda. I pray she can tell my mother she meet me. My life is better for the opportunity you gave me to meet here. I immediately felt welcome and felt the love I know all of you have been given over the years. God tells me this scripture describes how she loved you. Thank you for your kindness! Love is patient, love is kind. It does not envy, it does not boast, it is not proud. It does not dishonor others, it is not self-seeking, it is not easily angered, it keeps no record of wrongs. Love does not delight in evil but rejoices with the truth. It always protects, always trusts, always hopes, always perseveres. (1 Corinthians 13:4-7 NIV)”
